

Resolutions of ACC-3

Resolution 1: The proposed Church of Lanka

The Council expresses sympathy with and concern for the Dioceses of Colombo and Kurunagala and their partners as they await the result of the legal actions which are hampering the attainment of their plans for union.

Resolution 2: The Thirty Nine Articles

- a. The Council is opposed to the re-writing of the Articles either in whole or in part. It sees no reason why any member church should not by resolution of its appropriate authorities issue an explanatory statement of the nature of the Articles and of their status to-day.
- b. The Council asks member churches to report to the Secretary General in time for the next Lambeth Conference or ACC-4:
  1. on the present status of the Thirty Nine Articles in their church;
  2. on the current practice regarding subscription or assent by the clergy and other officers of the church;
  3. whether they still print the Articles with the official liturgy of the church (see Resolution 43 of Lambeth 1968).

Resolution 3: United Churches

- a. The Council encourages Churches of the Anglican Communion who have not already done so to establish formal relationships with those united Churches which include former Anglicans.
- b. The Council is of the opinion that the 'Partners in Mission' programme offers important opportunities for the furtherance of reciprocal relationships with the united Churches.
- c. The Council asks Churches of the Anglican Communion to be sensitive to the particular needs of the united Churches, and to the problems which may arise if a sense of isolation is allowed to develop.

Resolution 4: Report on the Theology of Marriage

The Council welcomes the news that the final report of the Anglican- Roman Catholic Commission on the Theology of Marriage, with special reference to Mixed Marriages, has been completed. It regrets that the report was not published in time for consideration. Nevertheless, it commends the report to the careful study by the Churches of the Anglican Communion. Practical solutions of the problems of inter-Church marriages with which the report deals are impossible without a spirit of co-operation which is not everywhere evident. The Council therefore hopes that each member Church will be able at every level to discuss the report with Roman Catholics.

Resolution 5: Anglican-Lutheran Joint Working Group

The Council welcomes the careful and detailed report of the Joint Working Group. It notes that the responses of Lutheran and Anglican churches to the Anglican-Lutheran International Conversations (Pullach Report) make it clear that while there is wide agreement between the two traditions, there are still areas that call for much fuller discussion, especially the concepts of justification, eucharistic presence, apostolicity and episcopacy. In connection with the last point, we hope that attention will be given to the place of bishops in the Church, rather than to the abstract idea of episcopate. It is noted that the Joint Working Group does not recommend a further round of international discussions at present, but that local and regional conversations should go on. It is noted also that both Churches are in conversation with the Roman Catholic Church, and the Council hopes that these conversations will lead to a convergence between Anglicans and Lutherans with each other, as well as with Rome.

Resolution 6: Conference of Secretaries of WCFs

- a. The Council welcomes the publication of a revised edition of Confessions in Dialogue by the Conference of Secretaries of WCFs in co-operation with the Secretariat of Faith and Order of the WCC, and expresses the hope that this process will continue and be used by the Anglican churches involved in unity negotiations.
- b. The Council authorises the continued participation of the appropriate Anglican representative in the Conference of Secretaries of WCFs, and in the Advisory Group to be convened by the Faith and Order Commission of the WCC, on the understanding that this does not imply a new Secretariat within or outside the WCC.

Resolution 7: Joint Mission and Visible Unity

The Council expresses the hope that more of our member churches will take fresh initiatives in, and become the patient labourers for, national and regional gatherings of churches which will provide the vehicle for the expression of commitment to joint mission and visible unity in every place.

Resolution 8: Inter-Anglican Theological and Doctrinal Commission

The Council refers to member Churches the matter of agreement and discussion in doctrine and theology throughout the Anglican Communion. It asks the member Churches to send to the Secretary General their responses to the following questions:

1. Does your Church have a Commission on doctrine or theology?
2. Is your Church informed of the work of similar Commissions in other member Churches?
3. Would your Church be in favour of co-ordination of doctrinal and theological study in member Churches by way of an inter-Anglican Commission?

It is asked that replies be reported to the next Lambeth Conference and for ACC-4.

Resolution 9: Training for Ministry.

The Council strongly urges Principal Correspondents for Education to submit information concerning the content and method of training for clergy and laity within their churches to the Secretary General for distribution by him in the Anglican Information Service.

Resolution 10: The Diaconate

The Council advises:

- a. that the use of the Diaconate as a period of preparation for the priesthood be retained; and that every church should review its practice to ensure that this period is one of continued training and further testing of vocation; but that it is not to be regarded as necessarily leading to the priesthood;
- b. that the churches, and particularly the laity, be invited to examine the concept of the Diaconate as an Order to which lay people serving the Church, or serving in the name of the Church, could also be admitted, to express and convey the authority of the Church in their service. And, in this consideration, to take into account Resolution 32 of Lambeth 1968, and Bishop John Howe's article on the Diaconate written in preparation for that meeting of Lambeth. This study should include the status of deacons in Synods.

Resolution 11: Deaconesses

The Council asks:

- a. the provinces to declare that those made deaconesses by laying on of hands, with appropriate prayer, be declared to be within the Diaconate;
- b. that appropriate canonical legislation be enacted by provinces and regional churches to provide for those already made deaconesses.

Resolution 12: Self-Supporting Ministry

That in view of the rapid development of the self-supporting ministry throughout the Communion, and the way God has manifestly used it. the Council commends it to all the churches, to be encouraged and used with synodical support and caring pastoral oversight.

Resolution 13: Team Ministries

The Council recommends that teams of ministers, ordained and lay. should be formed in areas of convenient size, whether parishes or groups of parishes, or areas of development, or for any special task. It believes that this should be the normal pattern of the Church's ministry.

Resolution 14: Selection and Training for Ministry

The Council recommends that all member churches should endeavour to secure the greatest possible participation of the local church in the selection and training of the ministry.

Resolution 15: Personnel Movement

The Council asks the member Churches to consider what steps each can take to improve the co-ordination of the movement of personnel (clerical and lay) between them.

Resolution 16: Indigenous Theological Studies

Resolution 17: Partners in Mission

The Council:

- a. affirms that the implementation of the Joint Consultation process proposed at Dublin has been an important co-operative and educational experiment and should continue to be developed;
- b. asks the churches to consider the recommendations made for the improvement of the process and suggestions for the next phase of Consultations;
- c. asks the Secretary General to explore the possibility of the use of a similar consultation process by the World Confessional Families experimentally in certain regions in order to promote joint action for and understanding of mission.

Resolution 18: Provincial and Diocesan Organisation

The Council requests all Provinces and proposed Provinces to notify the Secretary General prior to ACC-4 of developments of either permanent or experimental nature regarding Provincial and Diocesan organisation.

Resolution 19: The Lambeth Conference

The Council advises that:

The next Lambeth Conference should:

- i. be in 1978 on the same pattern as 1968;
- ii. be residential, and held in London or Canterbury;
- iii. consist of all diocesan bishops (about 400), 40 assistant bishops, 60 consultants and observers including the Standing Committee of ACC;
